Quick Start Guide

IMPORTANT!

Before you start, consider the following aspects...

- If you are already a Panda Security customer and extend your subscription for your current product, you won't need to uninstall it. Install the 2014 product version over it and your subscription will be automatically extended.
- Activating your product is essential to ensure the product works optimally. To activate it, you need your activation code. You'll find this printed on the envelope that contains the CD. Keep it in a safe place.

If you bought the product online, you will have received an email message with all the information you need to activate it.
